DEMOCRATIC STYLE.

Some Facts and Figures Which Go to Show That the Country is not Going to the Demnition Bow-Wows Under Mr. Cleveland's Administration.

WASHINGTON, July 6.—During the fiscal year which closed June 30 a reduction of $109,707,645.38 was made in the public debt. During the preceding year the reduction aggregated $96,097,766.25. This is a difference of $13,609,880.13 in favor of the past year, mainly due to an increase in the net revenue of the year just ended over that of the year previous. The receipts during 1886-87 were $34,-941,166 89, and the expenditures $26,-033,051.79, greater than during 1885-86, making a net gain for the year of $8,-908,115. The detailed figures are as follows: Receipts—Customs, $24,498,-959 75, increase; internal revenue, $2,-330,511.02, increase; miscellaneous, $8,-111,696.12, increase. Expenditures ordinary, $16,619,392.68, increase; pensions, $12,248,885.25 increase; interest, $2,835,926.14, decrease; total, $26,033,051.79, increase. During 1885-86 the government's receipts exceeded its expenditures $93,956,588.86, and during 1886-87 the excess aggregated $102,864.70, so that in both years the democratic administration used all of the surplus received in reducing the debt and drew out some of the accumulated surplus stored in the treasury vaults under republican rule.

The showing made by the democratic administration for the two years and four months it has had the reins of power is one the democratic administration may well point to with pride. The figures will look well in type. They are as follows: March 1 to June 30, 1885, $26.-929.533.92; July 1, 1885, to June 30, 1886, $97,147.766 25; July 1, 1886, to June 30, 1887, $109,707,646.38; total, $233,884,946.55.

JUNE'S DEBT STATEMENT.

The public debt statement shows the total interest-bearing debt to be $1,098,667,465.18; debt on which interest has ceased since maturity, $6,305,-919.13; debt bearing no interest, $590,-798,764.37; total debt, principal and interest. $1,700,771,948.68. Decrease of debt during the month, $16,852,725.17. Decrease of debt since June 30, 1886, $109,707,646,38. Cash in the treasury available for reduction of the public debt, $280,489,842.28. Total cash in the treasury as shown by the treasurer's general account, $482,433,917.21.

SUMMARY FOR THE YEAR.

During the fiscal year just ended the principle of the bonded debt of the United States decreased $127,911,030, and the amount of the accrued but unpaid interest on such debt decreased $508,911. The decrease in certificates of deposit amounted to $9,480,000, and in demand notes and fractional currency to $7,438. During the same period there was an increase of $69,182,854 in gold and silver certificates, and an increase of $40,949,854 in the cash in the treasury, showing a net decrease in the public debt during the year of $109,707,-646.

PENSION COMPARISONS.

The record division of the pension office for the fiscal year ending June 30 makes a larger showing as compared with the work in 1885, when the republicans had charge of the office. This exhibit of the record division is a fair sample of the work of the bureau. During the year the number of claims for increase filed was 106,317; originals, 51,-837; Mexican, 18,425; total, 176.879. The result of the year ending June 30, 1885, was: Increase of pensions, 66,-590; originals, 38,079; total, 104.669. The excess for 1888 is 72,210. The office now has fifteen clerks less than the republicans had when they were in power.

The Vandalia Freight Classification.

ST. LOUIS, July 6.—The Vandalia is distributing among its agents a circular, under date of July 5th, announcing the report of the committee on freight classification, having been adopted by the joint committee. The changes in classification therein recommended will take effect the 15th. Most of the proposed changes are reductions in classification. The advances made are for the most part on those classes of freight of which comparatively little is shipped.

Dr. McGlynn.

NEW YORK, July 6.—The position of Dr. McGlynn was the chief topic of conversation in Catholic circles yesterday. The prospect is that while the edict of ex-communication will go formally into force, it will not be the cause of any public ceremonial in any church. The fact of his notification and the further fact that he is no longer a priest of the Roman Catholic church or a communicant of that body will be published in the newspapers.

Foreign News.

VIENNA, July 6.—The Tagblatt says that Germany, Austria and Italy are negotiating for a still closer alliance than the one at present existing between those countries.

The Weather.

WASHINGTON, July 6.—Indiana, fair weather, nearly stationary temperature.

Took the Wrong Medicine.

CINCINNATI, July 6.—Phillip Ziegler, living with his mother in the northern part of the city, died in great agony last night from the effects of a dose of carbolic acid administered by his mother. She mistook it for medicine. She is almost frantic over the mistake.

TAYLOR-WARD.

A Very Pleasant Marriage at Dr. Moffat's Residence.

There was a quiet July wedding at the residence of Rev. Dr. Moffat this morning at 11 o'clock.

Dr. Moffat, in the presence of a few invited friends, conducted the beautiful and impressive ceremony which united in marriage Miss Minnie G. Taylor, of Muncie, Ind., and Mr. George Ward, of this city.

The bride appeared unusually pretty, with her wealth of dark auburn hair, and a very expressive face, and was attired in a neat fitting and beautiful traveling costume of blue material. The bride was assisted by Miss Eva McGrew, of Montpelier, Ind.

The bridegroom looked handsome, dressed in the conventional black and was assisted by Mr. D. M. Doyle, of Fort Wayne.

Miss Taylor is closely connected with the best families in Delaware and Randolph counties, this state, while Mr. Ward is well known in the city of Fort Wayne and comes from an old Cincinnati family, closely identified with the Ohio River Packet company. His grandfather, Captain Wm. Ward, was one of the most prominent men in the early days of this Packet company. George Ward is about twenty-four years of age, and has been connected with the American Express company since a mere boy. He has been express messenger on the Muncie road for some time where he is widely known by all the frequenters of this route. After dinner the happy couple were conveyed to the Nickel Plate depot, where they took the eastbound train for a brief visit to friends and relatives in New York City. Their future home will be in Muncie, Ind.

An Indian Feast and Dance.

The "te-can-na" is more usually indulged in now as a part of religious worship. This is properly the feast and dance. A dog has been prepared as a sacrifice, and while it is being cooked over a fire in the lodge and the savory odor is wafted to the nostrils of the Indian, he performs his devotions. Only invited guests are present in the lodge to take part in the exercises, and outside no one approaches near it.

When the dog has been well cooked, it is dished up and passed around by one of the priesthood (every one having brought his own dish). It is then eaten as quickly as possible, when the ceremonies again begin.

Seated on the platform are the "musicians." They are hideously painted, and are in a state of semi-nudity, while they glitter with barbaric ornaments. Frantically they beat upon drums, interspersed with the shaking of gourds, singing, meanwhile, the sacred chant of the clan. Here is one commonly used:

Muh-quoh Mak-a-moan
Au-wah-tus-sa Ke-shuk-we
Mon-na, enau-kut-we.

This is the sacred song of the Bear (Muhquoh) clan or band, four bands being represented at the Indian village. But now the discordant tone of the chanting rises higher and higher, then sinks away almost to silence. Again it rises with renewed energy of voice, and anon is heard no more. This is continued for many hours. The women present are silent, and only the voice of one who has been allowed special privileges is heard. After this to them solemn ceremony the dancing begins, and is also observed as a part of worship. A loud, shrill whistle is blown that reaches to the distant lodges. Then the covering is removed from the door, that all who wish may behold the dance. One behind the other with rhythmic, measured step, they slowly move in a circle around the lodge to the music (!) of the drum and the fierce chanting of the "orchestra," which is mingled with the whoops and shrill cries of the dancers. The step of the women is a peculiar jump which moves their whole bodies. The dance is generally continued until all are exhausted by the violent exercise.

Every style of costume, or lack of costume, is here depicted on the part of the Indians. Some are clothed with a consciousness of virtue and a necklace of bear's claws; others wear buckskin leggins and a dignified demeanor; and still others a "bee-se-cah" (shirt) of gay calico (decorated with ribbons) and a war club, while an ancient representative of this historic race, in the intensity of his religious fervor, appears upon the scene clad with rectitude and a feather fan.

The women are dressed usually in broadcloth skirts handsomely embroidered with different-colored silks, and all the paraphernalia of ornament that is used by both men and women on this occasion; neither must we forget the paint, which is put on with a lavish hand.—Allie B. Busby, in Brooklyn Magazine.

THE MORMONS.

The Article Pretending to Abolish Polygamy in Utah Pronounced a Fraud and a Sham.

SALT LAKE, Utah, July 6.—The Tribune editorially says: "The Mormon article pretending to abolish polygamy is a fraud and a sham, It omits unlawful cohabitation. The most prevalent and offensive feature being the continuous living in polygamy, and all that a Mormon would need to do in order to 'live his religion' would be to quietly marry polygamously and keep the knowledge of the fact from obtrusively offending the Mormon prosecuting attorney for three years and from thereafter he could live in the most shameless and indecent polygamy with neither law nor constitution to say him nay. He would also be backed by the church and the dominant sentiment and the constitution would be laughed to scorn as the church program contemplates."

Was Not the Man.

LANSING, Mich., July 6.—The prisoner arrested last night as Harry McMunn or Mat Kennedy, who was implicated in the Cleveland fur robbery, claims to be Jesse B. Lamb, a farm hand, and has had no connection with the murder of Hulligan. The officials here do not believe that the Sandusky detective has secured the man wanted.

A Chinese Marriage.

NEW HAVEN, July 6.—Yan Phon Lee, of Fragrant Hills China, who graduated with high honors at Yale's last commencement, was to-day united in marriage to Miss Elizabeth Maud Jerome, of New Haven, an heiress. The ceremony was quietly performed at the residence of the brides mother.

BERNE, July 6.—A portion of land bordering on the lake at Zug, the capital of a canton of that name, subsided to-day and twenty-seven houses were engulfed in the lake. Twenty occupants were drowned.

THE MARKETS.

NEW YORK, July 6—The opening of the stock market this morning was irregular, though the majority of stocks were lower, changes being for small fractions only. Trading was fairly active. Later the market became weak and Pacific Mail lost 1¼, Louisville and Nashville 1½, New England 1¼, Omaha 1 per cent. and others fractions. Activity was much greater late in the hour when the decline gained force. Manhattan lost 2 per cent., but low priced stocks were very quiet. At 11 o'clock the market is active but firmer at a shade better than lowest figures.

Noon—Money, easier, at 6 per cent. United States 4's coupon, $1.28, do 4½'s coupon, 1 09½c.

A MOTHER'S GRIEF.

Mrs. Morris, of Fort Wayne, Visits Lafayette and Attempts to Gain Possession of Her Children.

The Lafayette Journal says:

"A lady named Morris, residing at Fort Wayne, arrived in the city Saturday in quest of her children, three little boys. The first of June her husband went on an extended spree, and while in that condition conceived the notion that he would send the children to the orphans' asylum here, claiming that his wife was not the proper person to take care of them. They were sent here on the 3d of June and were given quarters at the asylum. This act of the husband caused a breach between him and his wife and they separated.

Mrs. Morris determined to recover her children and came to this city for that purpose. She went to the asylum and Father Guendling said he could not give her the children until he received word from Bishop Dwenger. A telegram was sent to the bishop and he sent word back to hold the children.

Mrs. Morris, accompanied by Officer Wisner, again visited the asylum yesterday and made a request for the children but was again refused their custody. While at the asylum she was permitted to see them. They clung to her and cried when they were taken away. The mother also was melted to tears by the childish love displayed by her children. She was very much incensed at the refusal of the asylum authorities to give up the children, and will to-day take legal steps to get possession of them. In the meantime she is the guest of friends here. It is a peculiar case and pathetic as well."

The Lafayette Journal, of this morning, adds:

"Mrs. Morris, whose children are now at the orphan's asylum against her wishes and protest, has returned to Fort Wayne to secure evidence and money to carry the matter into court. T. J. Levering has found a home for the two younger boys in the Orphans' home, in case they are released from the asylum. If the matter gets into court it will prove an interesting case.

IN THE BUSY WORLD.

Personal Points and Pithy Paragraphs Picked up Around the Shops and Railroads of the City.

James Scott, of the moulding rooms of the Bass works, has returned from Chicago.

H. Hilleker, of the Pittsburg shops, spent the Fourth at Lima, Ohio. Mrs. Hilleker accompanied him.

A number of men in the shops, who spent the Fourth abroad, did not return until the late trains yesterday.

It is said among the boys at the Pittsburg shops that the families of the absent machinists are improving.

Conductor W. H. Anderson celebrated his crystal wedding on last Saturday night in a very enjoyable manner.

The Herman Berghoff Brewing company have taken out a permit to erect the new brewery at a cost of $60,000.

James Sloan, the popular clerk in the Pittsburg shops, has the thanks of THE SENTINEL reporter for courtesies shown him.

The big Duplex locomotive will leave for Chicago with a fast freight train on Thursday morning. The repairs will by that time have been completed.

Business around the freight houses of the railroads is lively in the morning and at almost any hour a dozen wagons can be seen loading or unloading freight.

The railroads have been very dull since the Fourth and devold of local news. Excursions to Rome City and Warsaw seem to have quit for a while.

Uncle Jimmy Hewes, the good-natured foreman in the Pennsylvania company's shops, was the most expert dancer at the Knights of Labor picnic.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Hudson, of New Haven, who have been the guests of Ed Challenger, the very popular clerk of the Pittsburg shops, returned home yesterday.

D. Andrews, H. Heine, Thomas McCaffrey and John Kelley, of the boiler department of the Pittsburg shops, with their wives, were at Chicago spending the Fourth.

Robert Harrison, one of the genial foremen in the Pennsylvania company's shops, kindly showed our reporter around yesterday. He is a valued man to the works.

B. Weber, of the machine shops at the Pittsburg works, made the announcement this morning that it is a boy, and although the young fellow only arrived yesterday he is looking after a situation for him.

B. Fitzpatrick, the well known foreman of the Pittsburg machine shops, spent the Fourth with his family rusticating several miles in the country in company with several other families from this city.

John Wallace, a boiler maker in the Pittsburg shops, has received a row boat from Philadelphia capable of carrying eight persons. He had intended launching it on the Fourth on the placid waters of the St. Joe, but was employed all the day in repairing the big engine, "Duplex," and could not do so. The boat will be launched, however, in a few days and the boys of the shop will be given many free rides.

Mr. Westinghouse has been, during the last fortnight, making numerous changes in his brake with a special view of making an emergency stop with a fifty-car train without shock, even where air alone is used without electricity. The change which has produced the greatest effect in quickening the application of the brake on the last car, and rendering it more nearly simultaneous throughout the entire train is an enlargement of the train pipe to one and a quarter inches diameter.

The Pittsburg shops have a splendid protection against the ravages of fire, as was shown yesterday morning when the fire broke out in their blacksmith department. They have two hose carts with an ample supply of hose and a well organized and efficient company from among the employes of the shop. A large cistern furnishes them with water and engines of their own throw it to any part of their buildings, so that they can master all ordinary fires that break out, as they did yesterday when no alarm was sent to the city fire department.

WASHINGTON, July 6.—Comptroller Trenholm yesterday received a statement from Bank Examiner Snyder in regard to the affairs of the Fidelity National bank on June 30, the date of its suspension. He declined to make it public to-day as he desired to have it carefully considered before doing so. It was subsequently stated that the books of the bank were kept so loosely that it was likely the examination now being made would show them nearly $500,000 out of the way.

A Unique Celebration.

PORTLAND, Ore, July 6.—For the Fourth of July celebration Portland undertook and successfully carried out an unprecedented feat in the way of fireworks. It was no less than the illumination of the summit of Mount Hood, the tallest snow covered peak in Oregon, 12,720 feet high. This was done at exactly half-past eleven at night, and the light was plainly seen in this city, a distance of fifty-one miles in a straight line. The illuminating agent was 200 pounds of ordinary red fire.

With $65,000.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 6—Hinton Miller, the republican treasurer of Perry county, Indiana, has disappeared with about $65,000 of the public funds. It is supposed that he has joined the American colony in Canada.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 6, 1887.

THE Lafayette Journal was issued in national colors July 4.

There is a pretty unanimous demand for a soldiers' home in Indiana.

THE pope has instructed Archbishop Corrigan to excommunicate Father McGlynn.

IN Switzerland county, Indiana, the names of all the paupers outside of the poor house are published quarterly, and the amount furnished them from the township treasuries.

AT the Gettysburg reunion, the blue and the gray "tented on the old camp ground together." This feeling of brotherly love between the true heroes of the war breaks the heart of the professional coffee-cooler.

THIS season Bandmaster Gilmore, whose recent visit to Fort Wayne is pleasantly recalled, took with him to Manhattan Beach 5,000 separate pieces of music. The day before the opening of the season's concerts at Captain McKinnie's great hotel, three solid tons of sheet music were packed in twenty-eight dry goods boxes for shipment to the Beach. To make this library of music of any value, it has to be properly assorted, arranged and indexed, which alone requires the services of two competent men. New music is constantly being added to the collection, and to copy and arrange this for the use of the band requires the constant employment of three and sometimes four or five persons.

TWO LITTLE girls of Moline, Ill., while gathering flowers, stumbled upon a new-made grave. It was open, and in the bottom there is said to have been a coffin, in which was the corpse of a girl probably 13 years old. The grave was only about three feet deep, and the face and breast of the girl could be plainly seen through the uncovered glass portion of the lid. When they told their friends and returned to the spot the grave was empty.

GEN. DRUM is a stocky, determined-looking man about 60 years of age. He is of medium height and quite soldierly-looking—that is, he looks like a well-trained and disciplined soldier of the ranks or a sturdy non-commissioned officer. He is not at all distingue in appearance. He has risen from the ranks. Away back in the fifties he entered the army as a private soldier and has won his way up. In manner and speech he is rugged and brusque, even to the point of discourtesy at times, to persons who have business with the department.

IT is said that the star of Bethlehem will illumine the sky this year. It was first noticed by an astronomer when Tycho Brahe observed it in 1572. In the year 945 and again in 1264 a brilliant star is recorded to have made its appearance suddenly between the constellation of Cepheus and Casseopeia, near the place where the new star appeared in 1572. These three phenomena were connected even by Tycho Brahe and his contemporaries, and were regarded as reappearances of the same star. It was surmised that this was the star of the Magi, and this question was warmly discussed while the star was still shining.

THE following letter, written by the hand of the martyr President to Col. E. D. Taylor, a citizen of Chicago, has but recently appeared in print. It is of historical value as fixing beyond question the identity of the man who gave to the nation in its time of direful financial distress the idea whence was born the indispensable greenback:

MY DEAR COL. DICK: I have long determined to make public the origin of the greenback and tell the world it is one of Dick Taylor's creations. You had always been friendly to me, and when troublous times fell on us, and my shoulders, though broad and willing, were weak, and myself surrounded by such circumstances and such people that I knew not whom to trust, then I said in my extremit, "I will send for Col. Taylor; he will know what to do." I think it was in January, 1862, on or about the 16th, that I did so. You came and I said to you: "What can we do?" Said you: "Why issue treasury notes, bearing no interest, printed on the best banking paper. Issue enough to pay off the army expenses, and declare it legal-tender." Chase thought it a hazardous thing, but we finally accomplished it, and gave to the people of this republic the greatest blessing they ever had—their own paper to pay their own debts. It is due to you, the father of the present greenback, that the people should know it, and I take great pleasure in making it known. How many times have I laughed at you telling me plainly that I was to be anything but a lawyer.

Yours truly,
A. LINCOLN,
President.

Chills and Fever. Malaria.

"Many cases of fever and ague, dumb ague and congestive chills were promtly arrested and entirely banished by the use of Simmons Liver Regulator. You don't say half enough in regard to the efficacy of this valuable medicine in cases of ague, intermittent fever, etc. Every case has been arrested immediately. I was a sufferer for years with the liver disease, and only found relief by using the Regulator."—Robert J. Weeks, Batavia, Kane Co., Ill.

Live Jewels.

All the old families in Cartagena, writes a correspondent from New Grenada, South America, have more or less servants, their former slaves or their descendants, to whom wages are paid, who live in the lowest story of the house and provide for themselves in some mysterious way. The young ladies make up dulces and sweetmeats, which are taken out on trays by the servants and sold. The money obtained in this way is faithfully handed to the senorita of the house, who purchases the delicate fabric and pretty ribbons for the new dress, as she dare not make her appearance in the one previously worn. How lovely these dresses are ornamented at night with the cacullos (koo-koo-yos), the large and brilliant firefly of the jungles of the interior! When the cacullo is lively it is the most beautiful of jewels in effect. A coal of fire is waved at the edge of the jungle where the coculo lives. The beetles flock to the light and are knocked down easily into the grass, whence they are picked up and put into a joint of sugar-cane, where they get fat and lively and are ready for use when wanted. The effect produced by trimming a mull dress with cacullos, which emit a strong and uniform light, of an incandescent greenish character, is very striking. Young ladies attach two or more cacullos to the hair at the back of the head. After the ball these jewels are reimprisoned in the sugar-cane until wanted again.

At the commencement of the dessert the ladies rise and retire, but just before doing so a coal of fire is placed on the table and the young lady opposite the male guest deftly rolls up a cigarette and lights it, gives two or three whiffs, and then with grace removes it from her lips to those of her male vis-a-vis. I attended many balls without introduction, and approached any lady who struck my fancy, and solicited her hand for a waltz. They seemed to think it all right. It gave them a chance to flirt. One can say a great many flattering things without offending. Warmth of expression is looked upon as a compliment to the beauty of your partner, who is never displeased—at least she never shows it. Singular to say, the same young lady may be met, ball after ball, and receive your advances with approval, but she will not recognize you on the street. I never could induce any one of the ladies of the house where I lodged to walk out on the walls (the promenade). I was told it was contrary to the custom of the country, and would compromise the lady, and yet I felt sure the girl would have given the world to marry an American.

Ben: Perley Poore's Work.

Aside from his work as a news gatherer and political spectator, Ben: Perley Poore earned the gratitude of every writer in the land through the great number of reference works which he published. He taught the teachers of men. The book of Webster in the proof-rooms and the manuals and directories of Ben: Perley Poore in the editorial rooms have been for the last quarter of a century the volumes most often open to consultation. If a young man write a book nowadays, of which 100,000 copies are distributed, the papers begin drafting his granfather's history; but 800,000 copies of Major Poore's "Life of Gen. Taylor" were sold over thirty years ago.—Chicago Herald.

Catarrh to Consumption.

Cattarrh in its destructive force stands next to and undoubtedly leads on to consumption. It is therefore singular that those afflicted with this fearful disease should not make it the object of their lives to rid themselves of it. Deceptive remedies concocted by ignorant pretenders to medical knowledge have weakened the confidence of the great majority of sufferers in all advertised remedies. They become resigned to a life of misery rather than torture themselves with doubtful palliatives.

But this will never do. Catarrh must be met at every stage and combated with all our might. In many cases the disease has assumed dangerous symptoms. The bones and cartilage of the nose, the organs of hearing, of seeing and tasting so affected as to be useless, the uvula so elongated, the throat so inflamed and irritated as to produce a constant add distressing cough.

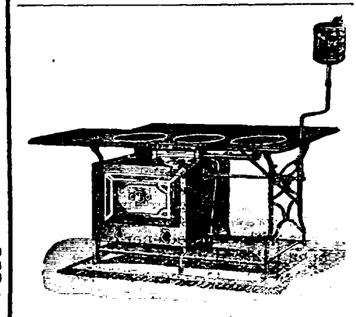

Sanford's Radical Cure meets every phrase of Cattarh, from a simple head cold to the most loathsome and destructive stages. It is local and constitutional. Instant in relieving permanent in curing, safe, economical and never-failing.

Each package contains one bottle of the Radical Cure, one box Catarrhal Solvent, and an Improved Inhaler, with treatise: price, $1. Potter Drug & Chemical Co., Boston.

Sign-Talking in Naples.

The people of Naples are the most proficient in the use of gesture. "With what are you most struck when in England?" asked a British subject of a Neapolitan. "With the total absence of all pantomimic action in conversation," replied he. To watch a lecturer address his audience without so much as lifting a finger in emphasis of his remarks is the most laughable of sights to this lively southern race.

Such admirable mimics are the Neapolitans that they can even dispense with the use of proper names. A twist of the features, a strut, or other peculiarity of manner, and they have indicated an acquaintance without using his patronymic.

Two men on opposite sides of a street in Naples have been known to hold a protracted conversation by means of signs alone.

No. 1 pulls a face descriptive of some common acquaintance and makes an interrogative motion.

No. 2 crosses his fingers like bars before his face and winks significantly.

No. 1 signals: "Why?"

No. 2 closes his fingers with a peculiar motion of the hand, laughs, and proceeds on his way. This, being translated reads:

"Where is So-and-So?"

"In prison."

"What has he been doing?"

"Stealing."

Familiarity with the language of signs saves a great deal of time and effort. For example, if, in any other city, you wish to invite a passing acquaintance to dinner, you must stop him and go through a quantity of courteous formality. In Naples you may simply rap your mouth and intimate the hour by holding up the requisite number of fingers. A motion on his part informs you whether your friend will accept your hospitality. The following are some of the most common signs and gestures in use:

An outward wave of the hand signifies "Adieu"; an inward, "Come"; a downward, "Stop." The thumb pointed backward says: "Look"; put to the lips, with a slight toss of the head, it means drinking; passed across the forehead, as though wiping away the perspiration, fatigue. The index finger drawn across the mouth denotes anger; across the clenched teeth, defiance; rapping the closed fingers against the lips, eating; passing the extended index and thumb in front of the mouth, hunger; twisting the end of the mustache: "Isn't it good to eat?" a backward wave of the hand beneath the chin and a simultaneous toss of the head: "Not at any price!"

It is infinitely amusing to sit at the window and watch Neapolitans in the street; if their conversation is at all animated one can easily follow it by the use of the eyes alone.—Youth's Companion.

Birds and Insects.

The use of sparrows alone may be seen by the following quotation from a small handbook on the subject which Rev. F. O. Morris has recently published called "The Sparrow Shooter": "Two pairs of sparrows were watched by an observant naturalist feeding their young in their nests in only one-half hour with the larvæ of the bluebottle fly from a dead cat. They fetched these in all a hundred and four times, and one of the birds also caught fourteen flies on the wing. Now, the common house fly is computed to produce in one season, so prolific is its progeny after progeny, no less than 20,000,000, say, in round numbers 21,000,000, and thus were prevented by these two pair of birds no fewer than 280,000,000, by the capture of fourteen flies, and 2,800,000,000 by the destruction of the 104 larvæ. Again, we read, on unimpeachable authority, that there figured in the parish in Gloucestershire a charge for seventeen dozen of (so-called) tomtits' heads; in another parish, Melbourne, in Derbyshire, a sparrow club destroyed, in one year, 4,567 small birds, and in yet another, 3,500. Take the smaller of these two last numbers, and multiply by it the number of flies just calculated as prevented by the two pairs of sparrows and it gives what we may very well call 'a grand total' or 7,280,000,000,000. Linnæus calculated that the progeny of three flies would devour a dead horse almost as quickly as a lion. The aphis, fed on by several of our small birds, produces of herself as is well-known, female aphides, generation after generation. As many as eleven of these female generations have been produced in one year, and it is believed that it may go on in the same way year after year. 'It is probable,' says MacGillivray, the most accurate and observant naturalist that England has ever had, 'that were the quantity of seeds of the cereal plants which all the granivorous birds in the country devour annually actually known it would prove much higher than could be imagined, yet by far the greater part could be of use to man were all the birds destroyed, it being irrecoverably dispersed over the fields.'"

The Hare and the Tortoise.

A Hare jeered a Tortoise because of his slowness of locomotion, boasting of her own speed at running. She said she could run a mile a minute without sweating a Hare, while the Tortoise would be a week about it, unless he took the cars.

The Hare offered to run a race with the Tortoise for any money he was a mind to put up. A bet was made and the race commenced. Of course the Hare got ahead easily, and joked the Tortoise, who was slower than the process of getting a jury in a boodle alderman case.

Finally the Hare, to show her contempt for the Tortoise, laid down and took a nap, satisfied that she would win the race, anyhow, even though the track was heavy; but when she awoke the Tortoise, who had kept pegging right along, had passed under the string, winning the race and the purse, the Hair being distanced.

Moral—One may be slow and deliberate in movement, yet get there all the same.—Texas Siftings.

Healed by Our Lady of Knock.

The redemptorist fathers were giving a mission in York, England. A Protestant, Mrs. Bellwood, of that city, was in a dying state and in great agony. She was visited by her neighbor, who was a native of Ireland, and, witnessing the sad state of Mrs. Bellwood, she said to her, as all other remedies had failed to give her relief, would she consent to use the Knock cement. She replied that she would use anything that would give her relief, and accordingly 'the cement' was sent for and used by Mrs. Bellwood. She was at once perfectly cured and relieved of all her intense pains. She, at her restoration to her family and the preservation of her life, expressed an earnest desire to become a Catholic. She was instructed, baptized, and received into the church, together with her children.

Another conversion wrought through the use of the Knock cement was that of a Mrs. Fowler, of Cheltenham, who was during life a stanch and rather stern and bigoted Protestant. She became so seriously ill that her recovery was pronounced hopeless by her own husband, who was a physician, as well as by other doctors who were called in to attend her; and when writhing in pain one of her daughters asked her, as the husband and the rest of the family were Catholics, would she use the Knock cement. She said yes. She used the cement and immediately was cured. She then became a Catholic, and edified her family and friends by the piety of her life. One of her daughters is a nun in the convent of Notre Dame, Sheffield. — Dublin Nation.

An Important Element

Of the success of Hood's Sarsaparilla is the fact that every purchaser receives a fair equivalent for his money. The familiar headline "100 Doses One Dollar" stolen by imitators, is original with and true only of Hood's Sarsaparilla. This can easily be proven by any one who desires to test the matter. For real economy, buy only Hood's Sarsaparilla, Sold by all druggists.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferers at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub wakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

THE average "silver polish" is a strong chemical compound, that will, in a short time, destroy the finish of every article it is used upon. If you would have your silver retain its brightness, clean it with IVORY SOAP and hot water; use a soft brush for cleaning the chased and ornamental work, then rub with a dry chamois, and your silver will be as bright as new.

A WORD OF WARNING.

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory';" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.

A Few New Inventions.

Ben. B. Evans, at No. 30 West Main street, has purchased the state right for the Burdick bed spring, which a SENTINEL reporter had the pleasure of examining to-day. The Burdick spring is without question the finest spring in the market, and is manufactured under Mr. Evans' personal supervision. The advantages of the Burdick spring are many, principal among which are that it is made in two sections, each independent of the other and also that it is so supported by coil springs that it can be used without a mattress when desired, making it a very cool and comfortable resting place in hot weather. Mr. Evans will sell township rights for the beds or will furnish them to customers. Besides the spring Mr. Evans is also state agent for the celebrated Sweetland creamery churn, and the Tornado family churn. For both of these practical machines, Mr. Evans has country or state rights for sale at reasonable figures. All of the above patents can be seen by calling at his place of business, No. 30 West Main street. wed&sat.

DEMOCRATIC STYLE.

Some Facts and Figures Which Go to Show That the Country is not Going to the Demnition Bow-Wows Under Mr. Cleveland's Administration.

WASHINGTON, July 6.—During the fiscal year which closed June 30a reduction of $109,707,645.38 was made in the public debt. During the preceding year the reduction aggregated $96,097,766.25. This is a difference of $13,609,880.13 in favor of the past year, mainly due to an increase in the net revenue of the year just ended over that of the year previous. The receipts during 1886-87 were $34,941,166.89, and the expenditures $26,033,051.79, greater than during 1885-86, making a net gain for the year of $8,908,115. The detailed figures are as follows: Receipts—Customs, $24,496,959.75, increase; internal revenue, $2,330,511.02, increase; miscellaneous, $8,111,696.12, increase. Expenditures ordinary, $16,619,392.68, increase; pensions, $12,248,885.25 increase; interest, $2,835,726.14, decrease; total, $26,033,051.79, increase. During 1885-86 the government's receipts exceeded its expenditures $93,956,588.86, and during 1886-87 the excess aggregated $102,864.70, so that in both years the democratic administration used all of the surplus received in reducing the debt and drew out some of the accumulated surplus stored in the treasury vaults under republican rule.

The showing made by the democratic administration for the two years and four months it has had the reins of power is one the democratic administration may well point to with pride. The figures will look well in type. They are as follows: March 1 to June 30, 1885, $26,929,533.92; July 1, 1885, to June 30, 1886, $97,147,766.25; July 1, 1886, to June 30, 1887, $109,707,646.38; total, $233,884,946.55.

JUNE'S DEBT STATEMENT.

The public debt statement shows the total interest-bearing debt to be $1,098,667,465.18; debt on which interest has ceased since maturity, $6,905,919.13; debt bearing no interest, $590,798,764.37; total debt, principal and interest, $1,700,771,948.68. Decrease of debt during the month, $16,852,725.17. Decrease of debt since June 30, 1886, $109,707,646.38. Cash in the treasury available for reduction of the public debt, $280,489,842.28. Total cash in the treasury as shown by the treasurer's general account, $482,433,917.21.

SUMMARY FOR THE YEAR.

During the fiscal year just ended the principle of the bonded debt of the United States decreased $127,911,030, and the amount of the accrued but unpaid interest on such debt decreased $508,911. The decrease in certificates of deposit amounted to $9,480,000, and in demand notes and fractional currency to $7,438. During the same period there was an increase of $69,182,854 in gold and silver certificates, and an increase of $40,949,854 in the cash in the treasury, showing a net decrease in the public debt during the year of $109,707,646.

PENSION COMPARISONS.

The record division of the pension office for the fiscal year ending June 30 makes a larger showing as compared with the work in 1885, when the republicans had charge of the office. This exhibit of the record division is a fair sample of the work of the bureau. During the year the number of claims for increase filed was 106,317; originals, 51,817; Mexican, 18,725; total, 176,879. The result of the year ending June 30, 1885, was: Increase of pensions, 66,590; originals, 38,079; total, 104,669. The excess for 1888 is 72,210. The office now has fifteen clerks less than the republicans had when they were in power.

The Vandalia Freight Classification.

ST. LOUIS, July 6.—The Vandalia is distributing among its agents a circular, under date of July 5th, announcing the report of the committee on freight classification, having been adopted by the joint committee. The changes in classification therein recommended will take effect the 15th. Must of the proposed changes are reductions in classification. The advances made are for the most part on those classes of freight of which comparatively little is shipped.

Dr. McGlynn.

NEW YORK, July 6.—The position of Dr. McGlynn was the chief topic of conversation in Catholic circles yesterday. The prospect is that while the edict of ex-communication will go formally into force, it will not be the cause of any public ceremonial in any church. The fact of his notification and the further fact that he is no longer a priest of the Roman Catholic church or a communicant of that body will be published in the newspapers.

Foreign News.

VIENNA, July 6.—The Tagblatt says that Germany, Austria and Italy are negotiating for a still closer alliance than the one at present existing between those countries.

The Weather.

WASHINGTON, July 6.—Indiana, fair weather, nearly stationary temperature.

Took the Wrong Medicine.

CINCINNATI, July 6.—Phillip Zeigler, living with his mother in the northern part of the city, died in great agony last night from the effects of a dose of carbolic acid administered by his mother. She mistook it for medicine. She is almost frantic over the mistake.

TAYLOR-WARD.

A Very Pleasant Marriage at Dr. Moffat's Residence.

There was a quiet July wedding at the residence of Rev. Dr. Moffat this morning at 11 o'clock.

Dr. Moffat, in the presence of a few invited friends, conducted the beautiful and impressive ceremony which united in marriage Miss Minnie G. Taylor, of Muncie, Ind., and Mr. George Ward, of this city.

The bride appeared unusually pretty, with her wealth of dark auburn hair, and a very expressive face, and was attired in a neat fitting and beautiful traveling costume of blue material. The bride was assisted by Miss Eva McGrew, of Montpelier, Ind.

The bridegroom looked handsome, dressed in the conventional black and was assisted by Mr. D. M. Doyle, of Fort Wayne.

Miss Taylor is closely connected with the best families in Delaware and Randolph counties, this state, while Mr. Ward is well known in the city of Fort Wayne and comes from an old Cincinnati family, closely identified with the Ohio River Packet company. His grandfather, Captain Wm. Ward, was one of the most prominent men in the early days of this Packet company. George Ward is about twenty-four years of age, and has been connected with the American Express company since a mere boy. He has been express messenger on the Muncie road for some time where he is widely known by all the frequenters of this route. After dinner the happy couple were conveyed to the Nickel Plate depot, where they took the east-bound train for a brief visit to friends and relatives in New York City. Their future home will be in Muncie, Ind.

An Indian Feast and Dance.

The "te-can-na" is more usually indulged in now as a part of religious worship. This is properly the feast and dance. A dog has been prepared as a sacrifice, and while it is being cooked over a fire in the lodge and the savory odor is wafted to the nostrils of the Indian, he performs his devotions. Only invited guests are present in the lodge to take part in the exercises, and outside no one approaches near it.

When the dog has been well cooked, it is dished up and passed around by one of the priesthood (every one having brought his own dish). It is then eaten as quickly as possible, when the ceremonies again begin.

Seated on the platform are the "musicians." They are hideously painted, and are in a state of semi-nudity, while they glitter with barbaric ornaments. Frantically they beat upon drums, interspersed with the shaking of gourds, singing, meanwhile, the sacred chant of the clan. Here is one commonly used:

Mah-quoh Mah-a-mona
Au-wah-las-ea Ke-shuk-we
Man-na, enan kut-wa.

This is the sacred song of the Bear (Muhquoh) clan or band, four bands being represented at the Indian village. But now the discordant tone of the chanting rises higher and higher, then sinks away almost to silence. Again it rises with renewed energy of voice, and anon is heard no more. This is continued for many hours. The women present are silent, and only the voice of one who has been allowed special privileges is heard. After this to them solemn ceremony the dancing begins, and is also observed as a part of worship. A loud, shrill whistle is blown that reaches to the distant lodges. Then the covering is removed from the door, that all who wish may behold this dance. One behind the other with rhythmic, measured step, they slowly move in a circle around the lodge to the music (!) of the drum and the fierce chanting of the "orchestra," which is mingled with the whoops and shrill cries of the dancers. The step of the women is a peculiar jump which moves their whole bodies. The dance is generally continued until all are exhausted by the violent exercise.

Every style of costume, or lack of costume, is here depicted on the part of the Indians. Some are clothed with a consciousness of virtue and a necklace of bear's claws; others wear buckskin leggins and a dignified demeanor; and still others a "bee-se-cah" (shirt) of gay calico (decorated with ribbons) and a war club, while an ancient representative of this historic race, in the intensity of his religious fervor, appears upon the scene clad with rectitude and a feather fan.

The women are dressed usually in broadcloth skirts handsomely embroidered with different-colored silks, and all the paraphernalia of ornament that is used by both men and women on this occasion; neither must we forget the paint, which is put on with a lavish hand.—Allie B. Busby, in Brooklyn Magazine.

THE MORMONS.

The Article Pretending to Abolish Polygamy in Utah Pronounced a Fraud and a Sham.

SALT LAKE, Utah, July 6.—The Tribune editorially says: "The Mormon article pretending to abolish polygamy is a fraud and a sham. It omits unlawful cohabitation. The most prevalent and offensive feature being the continuous living in polygamy, and all that a Mormon would need to do in order to 'live his religion' would be to quietly marry polygamously and keep the knowledge of the fact from obtrusively offending the Mormon prosecuting attorney for three years and from thereafter he could live in the most shameless and indecent polygamy with neither law nor constitution to say him nay. He would also be backed by the church and the dominant sentiment and the constitution would be laughed to scorn as the church program contemplates."

Was Not the Man.

LANSING, Mich., July 6.—The prisoner arrested last night as Harry McMunn or Mat Keoney, who was implicated in the Cleveland fur robbery, claims to be Jesse B. Lamb, a farm hand, and has had no connection with the murder of Hulligan. The officials here do not believe that the Sandusky detective has secured the man wanted.

A Chinese Marriage.

NEW HAVEN, July 6.—Yan Phon Lee, of Fragrant Hills China, who graduated with high honors at Yale's last commencement, was to-day united in marriage to Miss Elizabeth Maud Jerome, of New Haven, an heiress. The ceremony was quietly performed at the residence of the brides mother.

Engulfed in the Lake.

BERNE, July 6.—A portion of land bordering on the lake at Zug, the capital of a canton of that name, subsided to-day and twenty-seven houses were engulfed in the lake. Twenty occupants were drowned.

THE MARKETS.

NEW YORK, July 6—The opening of the stock market this morning was irregular, though the majority of stocks were lower, changes being for small fractions only. Trading was fairly active. Later the market became weak and Pacific Mail lost 1¼. Louisville and Nashville 1¼, New England 1¼, Omaha 1 per cent, and others fractions. Activity was much greater late in the hour when the decline gained force. Manhattan lost 2 per cent., but low priced stocks were very quiet. At 11 o'clock the market is active but firmer at a shade better than lowest figures.

Noon—Money, easier, at 6 per cent. United States 4's coupon, $1.28, do 4½'s coupon, 1 09¼c.

A MOTHER'S GRIEF.

Mrs. Morris, of Fort Wayne, Visits Lafayette and Attempts to Gain Possession of Her Children.

The Lafayette Journal says:

"A lady named Morris, residing at Fort Wayne, arrived in the city Saturday in quest of her children, three little boys. The first of June her husband went on an extended spree, and while in that condition conceived the notion that he would send the children to the orphans' asylum here, claiming that his wife was not the proper person to take care of them. They were sent here on the 3d of June and were given quarters at the asylum. This act of the husband caused a breach between him and his wife and they separated.

Mrs. Morris determined to recover her children and came to this city for that purpose. She went to the asylum and Father Guendling said he could not give her the children until he received word from Bishop Dwenger. A telegram was sent to the bishop and he sent word back to hold the children.

Mrs. Morris, accompanied by Officer Wiener, again visited the asylum yesterday and made a request for the children but was again refused their custody. While at the asylum she was permitted to see them. They clung to her and cried when they were taken away. The mother also was melted to tears by the childish love displayed by her children. She was very much incensed at the refusal of the asylum authorities to give up the children, and will to-day take legal steps to get possession of them. In the meantime she is the guest of friends here. It is a peculiar case and pathetic as well."

The Lafayette Journal, of this morning, adds:

"Mrs. Morris, whose children are now at the orphan's asylum against her wishes and protest, has returned to Fort Wayne to secure evidence and money to carry the matter into court. T. J. Levering has found a home for the two younger boys in the Orphans' home, in case they are released from the asylum. If the matter gets into court it will prove an interesting case.

IN THE BUSY WORLD.

Personal Points and Pithy Paragraphs Picked up Around the Shops and Railroads of the City.

James Scott, of the moulding rooms of the Bass works, has returned from Chicago.

H. Hilleker, of the Pittsburg shops, spent the Fourth at Lima, Ohio. Mrs. Hilleker accompanied him.

A number of men in the shops, who spent the Fourth abroad, did not return until the late trains yesterday.

It is said among the boys at the Pittsburg shops that the families of the absent machinists are improving.

Conductor W. H. Anderson celebrated his crystal wedding on last Saturday night in a very enjoyable manner.

The Herman Berghoff Brewing company have taken out a permit to erect the new brewery at a cost of $60,000.

James Sloan, the popular clerk in the Pittsburg shops, has the thanks of THE SENTINEL reporter for courtesies shown him.

The big Duplex locomotive will leave for Chicago with a fast freight train on Thursday morning. The repairs will by that time have been completed.

Business around the freight houses of the railroads is lively in the morning and at almost any hour a dozen wagons can be seen loading or unloading freight.

The railroads have been very dull since the Fourth and devoid of local news. Excursions to Rome City and Warsaw seem to have quit for a while.

Uncle Jimmy Hewes, the good-natured foreman in the Pennsylvania company's shops, was the most expert dancer at the Knights of Labor picnic.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Hudson, of New Haven, who have been the guests of Ed Challenger, the very popular clerk of the Pittsburg shops, returned home yesterday.

D Andrews, H. Heine, Thomas McCaffrey and John Kelley, of the boiler department of the Pittsburg shops, with their wives, were at Chicago spending the Fourth.

Robert Harrison, one of the genial foremen in the Pennsylvania company's shops, kindly showed our reporter around yesterday. He is a valued man to the works.

B. Weber, of the machine shops at the Pittsburg works, made the announcement this morning that it is a boy, and although the young fellow only arrived yesterday he is looking after a situation for him.

B Fitzpatrick, the well known foreman of the Pittsburg machine shops, spent the Fourth with his family rusticating several miles in the country in company with several other families from this city.

John Wallace, a boiler maker in the Pittsburg shops, has received a row boat from Philadelphia capable of carrying eight persons. He had intended launching it on the Fourth on the placid waters of the St. Joe, but was employed all the day in repairing the big engine, "Duplex," and could not do so. The boat will be launched, however, in a few days and the boys of the shop will be given many free rides.

Mr. Westinghouse has been, during the last fortnight, making numerous changes in his brake with a special view of making an emergency stop with a fifty-car train without shock, even where air alone is used without electricity. The change which has produced the greatest effect in quickening the application of the brake on the last car, and rendering it more nearly simultaneous throughout the entire train is an enlargement of the train pipe to one and a quarter inches diameter.

The Pittsburg shops have a splendid protection against the ravages of fire, as was shown yesterday morning when the fire broke out in their blacksmith department. They have two hose carts with an ample supply of hose and a well organized and efficient company from among the employes of the shop. A large cistern furnishes them with water and engines of their own throw it to any part of their buildings, so that they can master all ordinary fires that break out, as they did yesterday when no alarm was sent to the city fire department.

The Books of the Fidelity National Bank $500,000 Out of the Way.

WASHINGTON, July 6.—Comptroller Trenholm yesterday received a statement from Bank Examiner Snyder in regard to the affairs of the Fidelity National bank on June 30, the date of its suspension. He declined to make it public to-day as he desired to have it carefully considered before doing so. It was subsequently stated that the books of the bank were kept so loosely that it was likely the examination now being made would show them nearly $500,000 out of the way.

A Unique Celebration.

PORTLAND, Ore., July 6.—For the Fourth of July celebration Portland undertook and successfully carried out an unprecedented feat in the way of fireworks. It was no less than the illumination of the summit of Mount Hood, the tallest snow covered peak in Oregon, 12,720 feet high. This was done at exactly half past eleven at night, and the light was plainly seen in this city, a distance of fifty-one miles in a straight line. The illuminating agent was 200 pounds of ordinary red fire.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 6. Hinton Miller, the republican treasurer of Perry county, Indiana, has disappeared with about $65,000 of the public funds. It is supposed that he has joined the American colony in Canada.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 6, 1887.

The Lafayette Journal was issued in national colors July 4.

There is a pretty unanimous demand for a soldiers' home in Indiana.

The pope has instructed Archbishop Corrigan to excommunicate Father McGlynn.

In Switzerland county, Indiana, the names of all the paupers outside of the poor house are published quarterly, and the amount furnished them from the township treasuries.

At the Gettysburg reunion, the blue and the gray "tented on the old camp ground together." This feeling of brotherly love between the true heroes of the war breaks the heart of the professional coffee-cooler.

This season Bandmaster Gilmore, whose recent visit to Fort Wayne is pleasantly recalled, took with him to Manhattan Beach 5,000 separate pieces of music. The day before the opening of the season's concerts at Captain McKinnie's great hotel, three solid tons of sheet music were packed in twenty-eight dry goods boxes for shipment to the Beach. To make this library of music of any value, it has to be properly assorted, arranged and indexed, which alone requires the services of two competent men. New music is constantly being added to the collection, and to copy and arrange this for the use of the band requires the constant employment of three and sometimes four or five persons.

Two little girls of Moline, Ill., while gathering flowers stumbled upon a newly made grave. It was open, and in the bottom there is said to have been a coffin, in which was the corpse of a girl probably 13 years old. The grave was only about three feet deep, and the face and breast of the girl could be plainly seen through the uncovered glass portion of the lid. When they told their friends and returned to the spot the grave was empty.

Gen. Drum is a stocky, determined-looking man about 60 years of age. He is of medium height and quite soldierly-looking—that is, he looks like a well-trained and disciplined soldier of the ranks or a sturdy non-commissioned officer. He is not at all distingue in appearance. He has risen from the ranks. Away back in the fifties he entered the army as a private soldier and has won his way up. In manner and speech he is rugged and brusque, even to the point of discourtesy at times, to persons who have business with the department.

It is said that the star of Bethlehem will illumine the sky this year. It was first noticed by an astronomer when Tycho Brahe observed it in 1572. In the year 945 and again in 1264 a brilliant star is recorded to have made its appearance suddenly between the constellation of Cepheus and Cassiopeia, near the place where the new star appeared in 1572. These three phenomena were connected even by Tycho Brahe and his contemporaries, and were regarded as reappearances of the same star. It was surmised that this was the star of the Magi, and this question was warmly discussed while the star was still shining.

The following letter, written by the hand of the martyr President to Col. E. D. Taylor, a citizen of Chicago, has but recently appeared in print. It is of historical value as fixing beyond question the identity of the man who gave to the nation in its time of direful financial distress the idea whence was born the indispensable greenback:

My Dear Col. Dick: I have long determined to make public the origin of the greenback and tell the world it is one of Dick Taylor's creations. You had always been friendly to me, and when troublous times fell on us, and my shoulders, though broad and willing, were weak, and myself surrounded by such circumstances and such people that I knew not whom to trust, then I said in my extremity, "I will send for Col. Taylor; he will know what to do." I think it was in January, 1862, on or about the 16th, that I did so. You came and I said to you: "What can we do?" Said you: "Why issue treasury notes, bearing no interest, printed on the best banking paper. Issue enough to pay off the army expenses, and declare it legal tender." Chase thought it a hazardous thing, but we finally accomplished it, and gave to the people of this republic the greatest blessing they ever had—their own paper to pay their own debts. It is due to you, the father of the present greenback, that the people should know it, and I take great pleasure in making it known. How many times have I laughed at you telling me plainly that I was too lazy to be anything but a lawyer.

Yours truly,
A. Lincoln,
President.

Chills and Fever. Malaria.

"Many cases of fever and ague, dumb ague and congestive chills were promptly arrested and entirely banished by the use of Simmons Liver Regulator. You don't say half enough in regard to the efficacy of this valuable medicine in cases of ague, intermittent fever, etc. Every case has been arrested immediately. I was a sufferer for years with the liver disease, and only found relief by using the Regulator."—Robert J. Weeks, Batavia, Kane Co., Ill.

Live Jewels.

All the old families in Cartagena, writes a correspondent from New Granada, South America, have more or less servants, their former slaves or their descendants, to whom wages are paid, who live in the lowest story of the house and provide for themselves in some mysterious way. The young ladies make up dulces and sweetmeats, which are taken out on trays by the servants and sold. The money obtained in this way is faithfully handed to the senorita of the house, who purchases the delicate fabric and pretty ribbons for the new dress, as she dare not make her appearance in the one previously worn. How lovely these dresses are ornamented at night with the cucullos (koo-koo-yos), the large and brilliant firefly of the jungles of the interior! When the cucullo is lively it is the most beautiful of jewels in effect. A coal of fire is waved at the edge of the jungle where the cocullo lives. The beetles flock to the light and are knocked down easily into the grass, whence they are picked up and put into a joint of sugar-cane, where they get fat and lively and are ready for use when wanted. The effect produced by trimming a mull dress with cucullos, which emit a strong and uniform light, of an incandescent greenish character, is very striking. Young ladies attach two or more cucullos to the hair at the back of the head. After the ball these jewels are reimprisoned in the sugar-cane until wanted again.

At the commencement of the dessert the ladies rise and retire, but just before doing so a coal of fire is placed on the table and the young lady opposite the male guest deftly rolls up a cigarette and lights it, gives two or three whiffs, and then with grace removes it from her lips to those of her male vis-a-vis. I attended many balls without introduction, and approached any lady who struck my fancy, and solicited her hand for a waltz. They seemed to think it all right. It gave them a chance to flirt. One can say a great many flattering things without offending. Warmth of expression is looked upon as a compliment to the beauty of your partner, who is never displeased—at least she never shows it. Singular to say, the same young lady may be met, ball after ball, and receive your advances with approval, but she will not recognize you on the street. I never could induce any one of the ladies of the house where I lodged to walk out on the walls (the promenade). I was told it was contrary to the custom of the country, and would compromise the lady, and yet I felt sure the girl would have given the world to marry an American.

Ben: Perley Poore's Work.

Aside from his work as a news gatherer and political spectator, Ben: Perley Poore earned the gratitude of every writer in the land through the great number of reference works which he published. He taught the teachers of men. The book of Webster in the proof-rooms and the manuals and directories of Ben: Perley Poore in the editorial rooms have been for the last quarter of a century the volumes most often open to consultation. If a young man write a book nowadays, of which 100,000 copies are distributed, the papers begin drafting his grandfather's history; but 800,000 copies of Major Poore's "Life of Gen. Taylor" were sold over thirty years ago.—Chicago Herald.

You will find this wonderful remedy effective where other medicines have failed. Try it now. It will purify your blood, regulate the digestion, and give new life and vigor to the entire body.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla did me great good. I was tired out from overwork, and it toned me up." Mrs. G. E. Simmons, Cohoes, N. Y.

"I suffered three years from blood poison. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla and think I am cured." Mrs. M. J. Davis, Brockport, N. Y.

Purifies the Blood

"Hood's Sarsaparilla tones up my system, purifies my blood, sharpens my appetite, and seems to make me over." J. P. Thompson, Register of Deeds, Lowell, Mass.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla beats all others, and is worth its weight in gold." I. Barrington, 130 Bank Street, New York City.

SKIN AND SCALP

Cleansed, Purified and Beautified by the Cuticura Remedies.

For cleansing the Skin and Scalp of Disfiguring Humors, for allaying Itching, Burning and Inflammation, for curing the first symptoms of Eczema, Psoriasis, Milk Crust, Scaly Head, Scrofula, and other Inherited Skin and Blood Diseases, Cuticura, the great Skin Cure, and Cuticura Soap, an exquisite Skin Beautifier, externally, and Cuticura Resolvent, the new Blood Purifier, internally, are infallible.

A Complete Cure.

I have suffered all my life with skin diseases of different kinds and have never found permanent relief, until, by the advice of a lady friend, I used your valuable Cuticura Remedies. I gave them a thorough trial, using six bottles of the Cuticura Resolvent, two boxes of Cuticura and seven cakes of Cuticura Soap, and the result was just what I had been told it would be—a complete cure.
BELLE WADE, Richmond, Va.
Reference, G. W. Latimer, Druggist, Richmond, Va.

Salt Rheum Cured.

I was troubled with Salt Rheum for a number of years, so that the skin entirely came off one of my hands from the finger tips to the wrist. I tried remedies and doctors' prescriptions to no purpose until I commenced taking Cuticura Remedies, and now I am entirely cured.
E. T. PARKER, 279 Northampton St., Boston.

Druggists Endorse Them.

Have sold a quantity of your Cuticura Remedies. One of my customers, Mrs. Henry Kintz, who had tetter on her hands to such an extent as to cause the skin to peel off, and for eight years she suffered greatly, was completely cured by the use of your medicines.
C. N. NYE, Druggist, Canton, Ohio.

Itching, Scaly, Pimply.

For the last year I have had a species of itching, scaly and pimply humors on my face to which I have applied a great many methods of treatment without success, and which was speedily and entirely cured by Cuticura.
Mrs. ISAAC PHELPS, Ravenna, O.

No Medicine Like Them.

We have sold your Cuticura Remedies for the last six years, and no medicines on our shelves give better satisfaction.
C. F. ATHERTON, Druggist, Albany, N. Y.

Cuticura Remedies are sold everywhere. Price: Cuticura, 50 cents; Resolvent, $1.00; Soap, 25 cents. Prepared by the Potter Drug and Chemical Co., Boston, Mass. Send for "How to Cure Skin Diseases."

GRUBS, Pimples, Skin Blemishes, and Baby Humors, cured by Cuticura Soap.

Catarrh to Consumption.

Catarrh in its destructive force stands next to and undoubtedly leads on to consumption. It is therefore singular that those afflicted with this fearful disease should not make it the object of their lives to rid themselves of it. Deceptive remedies concocted by ignorant pretenders to medical knowledge have weakened the confidence of the great majority of sufferers in all advertised remedies. They become resigned to a life of misery rather than torture themselves with doubtful palliatives.

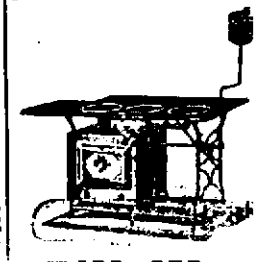

But this will never do. Catarrh must be met at every stage and combated with all our might. In many cases the disease has assumed dangerous symptoms. The bones and cartilage of the nose, the organs of hearing, of seeing and tasting so affected as to be useless, the uvula so elongated, the throat so inflamed and irritated as to produce a constant and distressing cough.

Sanford's Radical Cure meets every phase of Catarrh, from a simple head cold to the most loathsome and destructive stages. It is local and constitutional. Instant in relieving, permanent in curing, safe, economical and never failing.

Each package contains one bottle of the Radical Cure, one box Catarrhal Solvent, and an Improved Inhaler, with treatise; price, $1.
Potter Drug & Chemical Co., Boston.

KIDNEY PAINS, And that weary, lifeless all-gone sensation ever present with those of Inflamed Kidneys, Weak Back and Loins, Aching Hips and Sides, overworked or worn out by disease, debility or dissipation, are relieved in one minute and speedily cured by the Cuticura Anti-Pain Plaster, a new, original, elegant and infallible antidote to pain and inflammation. At all druggists, 25c.; five for $1.00; or of Potter Drug Co., Boston.

Sign-Talking in Naples.

The people of Naples are the most proficient in the use of gesture. "With what are you most struck when in England?" asked a British subject of a Neapolitan. "With the total absence of all pantomimic action in conversation," replied he. To watch a lecturer address his audience without so much as lifting a finger in emphasis of his remarks is the most laughable of sights to this lively southern race.

Such admirable mimics are the Neapolitans that they can even dispense with the use of proper names. A twist of the features, a strut, or other peculiarity of manner, and they have indicated an acquaintance without using his patronymic.

Two men on opposite sides of a street in Naples have been known to hold a protracted conversation by means of signs alone.

No. 1 pulls a face descriptive of some common acquaintance and makes an interrogative motion.

No. 2 crosses his fingers like bars before his face and winks significantly.

No. 1 signals: "Why?"

No. 2 closes his fingers with a peculiar motion of the hand, laughs, and proceeds on his way. This, being translated reads:

"Where is So-and-So?"

"In prison."

"What has he been doing?"

"Stealing."

Familiarity with the language of signs saves a great deal of time and effort. For example, if, in any other city, you wish to invite a passing acquaintance to dinner, you must stop him and go through a quantity of courteous formality. In Naples you may simply rap your mouth and intimate the hour by holding up the requisite number of fingers. A motion on his part informs you whether your friend will accept your hospitality. The following are some of the most common signs and gestures in use:

An outward wave of the hand signifies "Adieu"; an inward, "Come"; a downward, "Stop." The thumb pointed backward says: "Look"; put to the lips, with a slight toss of the head, it means drinking; passed across the forehead, as though wiping away the perspiration, fatigue. The index finger drawn across the mouth denotes anger; across the clenched teeth, defiance; rapping the closed fingers against the lips, eating; passing the extended index and thumb in front of the mouth, hunger; twisting the end of the mustache: "Isn't it good to eat?" a backward wave of the hand beneath the chin and a simultaneous toss of the head: "Not at any price!"

It is infinitely amusing to sit at the window and watch Neapolitans in the street; if their conversation is at all animated one can easily follow it by the use of the eyes alone.—Youth's Companion.

Birds and Insects.

The use of sparrows alone may be seen by the following quotation from a small handbook on the subject which Rev. F. O. Morris has recently published called "The Sparrow Shooter": "Two pairs of sparrows were watched by an observant naturalist feeding their young in their nests in only one-half hour with the lava of the bluebottle fly from a dead cat. They fetched these in all a hundred and four times, and one of the birds also caught fourteen flies on the wing. Now, the common house fly is computed to produce in one season, so prolific is its progeny after progeny, no less than 20,000,000, say, in round numbers 21,000,000, and thus were prevented by these two pair of birds no fewer than 280,000,000, by the capture of fourteen flies, and 2,800,000,000 by the destruction of the 104 larvæ. Again, we read, on unimpeachable authority, that there figured in the parish in Gloucestershire a charge for seventeen dozen of (so-called) tomtits' heads; in another parish, Melbourne, in Derbyshire, a sparrow club destroyed, in one year, 4,567 small birds, and in yet another, 3,500. Take the smaller of these two last numbers, and multiply by it the number of flies just calculated as prevented by the two pairs of sparrows and it gives what we may very well call 'a grand total' or 7,280,000,000,000. Linneus calculated that the progeny of three flies would devour a dead horse almost as quickly as a lion. The aphis, fed on by several of our small birds, produces of herself as is well-known, female aphides, generation after generation. As many as eleven of these female generations have been produced in one year, and it is believed that it may go on in the same way year after year. 'It is probable,' says MacGillivray, the most accurate and observant naturalist that England has ever had, 'that were the quantity of seeds of the cereal plants which all the granivorous birds in the country devour annually actually known it would prove much higher than could be imagined, yet by far the greater part could be of use to man were all the birds destroyed, it being irrecoverably dispersed over the fields.'"

The Hare and the Tortoise.

A Hare jeered a Tortoise because of his slowness of locomotion, boasting of her own speed at running. She said she could run a mile a minute without sweating a Hare, while the Tortoise would be a week about it, unless he took the cars.

The Hare offered to run a race with the Tortoise for any money he was a mind to put up. A bet was made and the race commenced. Of course the Hare got ahead easily, and joked the Tortoise, who was slower than the process of getting a jury in a boodle alderman case.

Finally the Hare, to show her contempt for the Tortoise, laid down and took a nap, satisfied that she would win the race, anyhow, even though the track was heavy, but when she awoke the Tortoise, who had kept jogging right along, had passed under the string, winning the race and the purse, the Hare being distanced.

Moral: One may be slow and deliberate in movement, yet get there all the same.—Texas Siftings.

Healed by Our Lady of Knock.

The redemptorist fathers were giving a mission in York, England. A Protestant, Mrs. Bellwood, of that city, was in a dying state and in great agony. She was visited by her neighbor, who was a native of Ireland, and, witnessing the sad state of Mrs. Bellwood, she said to her, as all other remedies had failed to give her relief, would she consent to use the Knock cement. She replied that she would use anything that would give her relief, and accordingly "the cement" was sent for and used by Mrs. Bellwood. She was at once perfectly cured and relieved of all her intense pains. She, at her restoration to her family and the preservation of her life, expressed an earnest desire to become a Catholic. She was instructed, baptized, and received into the church, together with her children.

Another conversion wrought through the use of the Knock cement was that of a Mrs. Fowler, of Cheltenham, who was during life a stanch and rather stern and bigoted Protestant. She became so seriously ill that her recovery was pronounced hopeless by her own husband, who was a physician, as well as by other doctors who were called in to attend her, and when writhing in pain one of her daughters asked her, as the husband and the rest of the family were Catholics, would she use the Knock cement. She said yes. She used the cement and immediately was cured. She then became a Catholic, and edified her family and friends by the piety of her life. One of her daughters is a nun in the convent of Notre Dame, Sheffield.—Dublin Nation.

An Important Element

Of the success of Hood's Sarsaparilla is the fact that every purchaser receives a fair equivalent for his money. The familiar headline "100 Doses One Dollar" stolen by imitators, is original with and true only of Hood's Sarsaparilla. This can easily be proven by any one who desires to test the matter. For real economy, buy only Hood's Sarsaparilla. Sold by all druggists.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub wakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

The Huntington Herald says: "H. K. and Hale Parry, of Fort Wayne, spent Sunday and Monday visiting in this city.—Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Redelsheimer, of Louisville, Ky., and Mrs. B. Rothchild, of Fort Wayne, are in the city, guests of Mr. and Mrs. Leopold Levy.—Dr. Younge, of Fort Wayne, whose family have been the guests of Mrs. Younge's parents, Elder Smith and wife, for some days, spent the Sabbath and Fourth of July in this city. The doctor authorizes us to announce the publication at an early date of an interesting pamphlet entitled 'Queer and Curious Things I Have Seen; or, My Trip Around the World in Front of a Police Officer.' The pamphlet will contain some interesting information regarding an alleged 'Journalist, World-Wide Traveler and Renowned Orator' pretty well known in the Upper Wabash Valley." THE SENTINEL just wants to remark that if Mr. Keator was in the newspaper field, the editor of the Herald and Dr. Younge would not be so anxious to vent their spleen. As it is, Mr. Keator may be heard from.

Supt. P. S. O'Rourke returned last evening from St. Louis, where he was prominent at the meeting of the supreme officers of the Catholic Knights of America held yesterday morning in the Southern hotel. The morning session was passed in discussing routine matters, and beyond requesting the bondsmen of Treasurer Thompson to present their brief to the Supreme legal adviser no business was transacted. The meeting adjourned at 2 p. m., when the visiting officers were escorted to carriages by a deputation of the Catholic Knights of that city and driven to the fair grounds. After a tour of the grounds the officers of the order were conducted to the house of public comfort, where an elegant dinner awaited them. About sixty guests assembled to do honor to the visitors, including many of the most prominent citizens of St. Louis. Speeches were made by State President Henry Fink, Supreme President J. D. Colman, Supreme Vice President P. S. O'Rourke, Supreme Secretary J. M. Barr, Supreme Trustees J. J. Duffy and J. M. McInerny, and also by Judge Dillon and Mr. F. Rating. At the close of the banquet the members of the Supreme council were driven to the Southern hotel, where they at once reconvened for the purpose of completing the business before them.

THE average "silver polish" is a strong chemical compound, that will, in a short time, destroy the finish of every article it is used upon. If you would have your silver retain its brightness, clean it with IVORY SOAP and hot water; use a soft brush for cleaning the chased and ornamental work, then rub with a dry chamois, and your silver will be as bright as new.

A WORD OF WARNING.

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory';" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.

A Few New Inventions.

Ben. B. Evans, at No. 30 West Main street, has purchased the state right for the Burdick bed spring, which a SENTINEL reporter had the pleasure of examining to-day. The Burdick spring is without question the finest spring in the market, and is manufactured under Mr. Evans' personal supervision. The advantages of the Burdick spring are many, principal among which are that it is made in two sections, each independent of the other and also that it is so supported by coil springs that it can be used without a mattress when desired, making it a very cool and comfortable resting place in hot weather. Mr. Evans will sell township rights for the beds or will furnish them to customers. Besides the spring Mr. Evans is also state agent for the celebrated Sweetland creamery churn, and the Tornado family churn. For both of these practical machines, Mr. Evans has county or state rights for sale at reasonable figures. All of the above patents can be seen by calling at his place of business, No. 30 West Main street. wed&sat.
